Story by Brett Hess - nssports@news-sentinel.com

The last 14 years of Joyce (Hockensmith) Boytim's life has been marked by numbers. But not just any numbers, rare numbers. Numbers like 26.2, 173 and 2. Now the numbers are 20, several thousand and 3.

Joyce, one of Fort Wayne's most visible distance runners for 14 years before moving to Houston two years ago, is fighting lung cancer. In a story full of irony, here is a person who has lived life following all the guidelines of health _ let alone not smoking _ and getting lung cancer.

But true to Joyce's character, she is not calling for sympathy. In fact, she continues to preach the same sermon she has for many, many years. Talking from her hospital bed in Houston, Joyce says things like: "Live each day to the fullest" and "never put off 'till tomorrow what you can accomplish today".

These are sayings Joyce has said to hundreds of fellow runners for several years. In another twist of irony, they are also quotes attributed to her just last year in a bio on the Bayou City Road Runner's web-site.

But enough irony. Joyce was a recreational runner when, in 1987, she ran the Fort Wayne marathon. The racing distance of 26.2 miles hooked her like it does many other runners. The mystique of the marathon can be captivating: no sooner has the soreness disappeared and many runners are planning their next conquest.

But very few are grabbed by the marathon like Joyce. Within a few years, the marathon had become her constant companion. Where many runners train for one a year and maybe sneak in two (one spring and one fall), Joyce was doing 20 to 30.

She joined the elusive 50 States plus D.C. Club which recognizes runners for the lifetime achievement of running a marathon in each state plus the District of Columbia. But Joyce accomplished the goal in a matter of years; so quickly in fact that she did it twice. Joyce is one of only two women to do it twice. And Joyce didn't restrict her marathoning to the U.S. She has run marathons in numerous of countries, too. When someone runs that many races in that many locales, they are bound to make a few friends. But leave it to Joyce to excel in that area, too. There is no doubt Joyce has logged more friendships over the years than miles run. And now, like the miles recorded in a runner's logbook, this statistic can be validated.

Joyce's husband, Ray Boytim, brings 20 e-mail a day from their home to Joyce in the hospital. He also brings stacks of cards and letters, loads of flowers and bags full of gifts (many know Joyce collects bears) "The response has been incredible," says Ray. "People Joyce hasn't seen or talked to in years are contacting her. Thousands of people remember her. Even those who only met her once."

Joyce, retired from New Haven's Highland Terrace Elementary School, brought a teacher's caring to a sport that is incredibly social to begin with. In fact, that is how her and Ray hooked up _ at a marathon in Tulsa in 1998. The pair ran a marathon in Austin in February and a week later Joyce uncharacteristically ran short of breath while competing in a five mile race. Fatigue and allergies were the most logical culprits but when Joyce worsened, X-rays were ordered. Within a month it was determined that Joyce had bronchoalveolar carcinoma, a rare form of lung cancer. Only three percent of lung cancer patients contract this type, which isn't caused by smoking or any other environmental agents. Joyce has since finished her first round of chemotherapy in what figures to be her first of eight marathon-like sessions. In typical marathoner's fashion, Joyce is "counting on" the discipline, the heart and the will of a runner to complete this course.

"You see a lot of people that get upset about things," says Ray. "Not her. She's never asked Why me?. In fact, the other day I must have been looking (depressed) because she put her hand up and pushed my lips into a smile. She literally put a smile on my face." Joyce has been receiving e-mail from many Fort Wayne Track Club members and recently replied with a heartfelt message, which read: "I am not angry, defeated or down. It is my nature to be a fighter. It does seem incredible to me that Ray and I ran two marathons in February and that I felt on top of the world.

I thank all my friends for their support and know that your positive thoughts and prayers will aide in my recovery." Joyce considers the worst of it all over with. "The hard part was not knowing what I was fighting," Joyce says. "Now I know what I'm battling and how far I have to go."

A note from Bill Harris - Fort Wayne Track Club President

Several weeks ago I participated in the Court House Classic, a 5K event in my home town of LaGrange. The race director observed that in his experience runners are better people. He also said they are kinder, morally stronger, harder working and more quality-minded.

These comments fit well with my feelings about Joyce Hockensmith Boytim. With her untimely passing, we lost one of our best. She exemplified the runner's spirit and served as an inspiration for all of us. Among her accomplishments, she ran 173 marathons, and also served as Assitant Race Director for our Hoosier Marathon from 1997-1999.

I enjoyed a Saturday morning run with her several years ago. We probably ran 8-10 miles together which provided ample opportunity to talk about her running, especially the marathons. "It's not really hard to run two marathons on a week-end," she said, "Just go easy on the first one." This feat she accomplished many times. She was personable and an encourager, giving valuable service to the Track Club Board for eleven years and serving as editor for "The Inside Track" for seven of those eleven years.

Take time to re-read her open letter to the Track Club, printed in the June-July issue. She was a runners' runner. Think of her on your next long run, and as you run consider making a contribution to her memorial fund.

'Til next time.

Bill Harris

Joyce Hockensmith-Boytim Memorial

Fort Wayne Track Club has initiated a scholarship memorial fund in memory of Joyce. She was an active member of the club and served on the board in various capacities for 11 years.

Joyce taught for 25 years at Highland Elementary School and was a great inspiration to young students in encouraging them to run and to run throughout their lives. One of her students, Cassie Jones, Montpelier, Indiana has already recieved a scholarship to a well-known college.

Contributions to this fund are wholly tax deductible. Funds collected will either be given to the running club she started at Highland Elementary or as a scholarship fund toward college fro an eligible runner of the Fort Wayne Track Club. Make your check payable to Fort Wayne Track Club and designate on the check that the contribution is for Joyce.

Have You Thought About Race Directing?

You have thought about race directing, but so what? Well, there are some openings and some opportunities to get started. Presently, the Nutri Run lacks a director as Doug Lehman has moved to St. Louis. As you may know, the Nutri Run consists of both a 5 mile and 20K race. Opportunities abound! There may be other openings as well. Not ready to go whole hog? We can work out an Assistant Race Director position which will give you valuable experience. Call Don Lindley at 432-5998 to discuss your interest.
