SIGNS FROM ABOVE?

by
Barrie Peterson

My mother, June Peterson, spent the last couple of years of her life in a nursing home in Davenport, Iowa. She was a magnificently strong lady—strong of heart, body, and especially of faith. Throughout her lifetime, she had suffered from almost all maladies known to womankind—miscarriage, breast cancer, ovarian cancer, open heart surgery, arthritis, bursitis, and in her later years, osteoporosis (to mention a few). On top of this, she lost her husband (my Dad) to cancer in 1982 at the age of only 66. And yet, in spite of all this, she remained extremely positive and strong-willed right up to the very end. Her mind remained sharp as a tack and her appetite became legendary in the nursing home! Because I live some 300 miles away, my two brothers were her constant caretakers through most of these latter years, except for a brief 6-year period when she resided in Fort Wayne, Indiana, where my wife and I reside. Shortly after celebrating her 75th birthday with us in Fort Wayne, she expressed the desire to move back to her hometown area where most of her friends and relatives were living. Because of my busy schedule as a public school teacher and coach, I was able to return home only about once every 6 to 8 weeks in the last years of her life. During the last couple of years while she was confined to the Davenport Lutheran Nursing Home, she was a model resident and one of the very few who could get around somewhat and make friends with other residents. Not only did the nursing home take great care of her, but also she took great care of everyone there—including staff personnel.

In January of this year, she fell while in the hands of one of the caretakers at the Home and fractured her pelvis and did some serious damage to her knee. Because of her fragile situation, they could not operate to repair the knee, but had to put it in a brace to immobilize it. This was the beginning of the end for Mom. When I returned for my next visit, she was unable to go out to eat, as was the usual situation when I returned for visits. I also noticed some deterioration in her memory and a definite difference in her overall strength and stamina. My wife and I returned in early April to celebrate her 88th birthday with a group of family and friends. She made a tremendous effort to be strong for us that day; indeed, she witnessed to us all concerning her life and her faith in God. I knew that this might be one of the last times I would get to visit my Mom as it was evident that she was slipping. Thus, I made an effort to make another visit in late April to see her once again and share some time with her. What a difference even from a couple of weeks prior at her birthday celebration. On Thursday, May 31, she passed away peacefully at the nursing home telling the hospice people that she was ready to meet Jesus!

My mother's wish was to be cremated upon her death; so my brother, Jon, made these arrangements with the attending funeral home as he is the only one of her three sons still residing in the Quad-Cities (Moline, Rock Island in Illinois and Davenport and Bettendorf on the Iowa side of the Mississippi River). When my other brother, Rick (now living in Yuma, Arizona) and I arrived back to the Quad-Cities on Sunday, we were told by brother Jon that we needed to go to the funeral home and sign the cremation papers. Because we had not yet signed the papers and because the funeral home was to have its crematorium inspected on Monday morning, Mom was still available for us to view her if we so desired. Since all three of us were together, we decided that we would take this opportunity to give our final good-byes to Mom. This was really tough—since Mom was to be cremated the next day after the inspection, she was not embalmed, but simply a nearly three-day old dead body. Although it was tough, it was also a chance for us as brothers to say goodbye and through laughter and tears share memories of Mom. We spent nearly half an hour in the room with Mom. Although as strong Christians, we knew that Mom was not really present, but only the shell of her earthly body. During this time, we also shared memories of our Dad who passed away in 1982—25 years ago. One of these strong memories of my Dad was his uncanny ability to spot coins and four-leaf clovers on his daily walks. One time while my youngest brother, Rick, was in the car with Dad, he suddenly slammed on the brakes and told Rick to get out and pick up the 50-cent piece, which was in the road ahead. Sure enough, there it was! My brothers to this day, when they find coins on the ground pick them up, save them, and then take them to Dad's gravesite and deposit them around the gravestone.

Early on Monday, June 4, the day of the memorial service for Mom, I went for my usual 4 to 5 mile run. Only about a half mile into my run, I spotted something glistening on the ground. It was a coin—a quarter! And it was head's up. I immediately bent over to pick it up and looked straight to heaven and said, "Hello, Dad! I know you are here with us!" When I got back to the motel, I took my wife's finger nail polish to mark it so that I would never lose it for the rest of my life. I still can't believe it—a quarter—25 cents—one cent for each of the 25 years that have passed since Dad left this earth. I guess Dad was smart enough not to leave 25 pennies, knowing that I may not find all of them. As the eldest son, I was asked to speak at Mom's memorial service, and I shared this experience—there was not a dry eye in the church, especially the eyes of my two brothers and myself.

Later that same evening, while gathered at brother Jon and sister-in-law Carolyn's house, we again relived this experience; then, my brother said, "Check the date on the coin. Maybe it will have some kind of significance." When I looked, the year was 1988—as you recall, my Mom was 88 when she died, and she was born in 1919! Also, on one side of the quarter is an eagle—my Mom's favorite song (sung at the memorial service) was "On Eagles Wings". Needless to say, this brought us all to tears once again. Wow!

Mom's internment took place early on Tuesday morning. Early Wednesday morning, my brother Jon could not sleep so he got up and began rummaging through some of Mom's things looking for a special radio that needed to be returned. It was around 4-5 a.m. While looking through Mom's things, Jon pricked his left index finger on something. At first, he said, it just hurt, but then it began bleeding badly enough that he had to wet a paper towel and eventually Band-Aid it to get it to stop. That same evening, Jon and Carolyn had Rick over for supper before he had to return to Yuma the next day. Jon told him about the finger prick, which caused Rick to stare in disbelief and almost turn pale. He held up his left index finger, and lo and behold, in the exact location he had cut himself, again at about the same time on Wednesday morning. He, too, at first felt just a prick, but then had to wrap it in Kleenex to stop the bleeding. Underneath the finger prick lies yet another story. Being guys, from the time we were pre-teen, whenever there was a sad story it would inevitably cause us to cry. Since Jon is probably the most emotional, he always told Mom and Dad that he cut his finger, and then he would leave the room. So you see here the significance here—Mom could definitely have been communicating an old story that ALL three of us still talk about each time we get together and reminisce. Jon stated that at first he didn't know what to think, but soon he knew that it was Mom saying perhaps that it was okay for us to cry.

All I can say is "Hello Mom and Dad. We know you are up there looking down upon us. And we can't wait to see you again. Until then, as I said in my brief remarks at the memorial service, we will honor God and both of you in all that we say and do from this day forward. We love you and we miss you but we do, indeed, feel your presence!"

17. Tom Landis reported that he has made an agreement with Premier Sports in Columbus, OH to rent all of the FWTC chips for a race there on June 30th. In return, we would rent their chips at $1.00 each from them for Runners on Parade. 12. An update of the Matthew 25 5k/10k was given by Don Lindley. He has heard some positive response from volunteers to help that day. The 10k is the only race that is considered for FWTC points that day.

Eat Meals

by
Judy Tillapaugh

Looking for something to give you more energy? What can help you stay healthy and strong during school, work, fitness activities, home tasks, and/or competitions?

Answer- nutritious meals and snacks

A regular fitness program alone is not adequate for energy, endurance, strength, and total health. Proper food fuel and fluids are important too. Food and beverage choices throughout each day can enhance how we think, feel, and perform. Daily regular nutritious meals and snacks give us calories and over 50 nutrients our mind and body needs to function well.

Eat what ever, when ever will give back just that....what ever...so, so performance results. You deserve better! Eat nutritious meals. Our mind, muscles, heart, lungs, bones, and other body parts all thrive best when their given the nourishment they need.

Below is a basic daily meal plan designed to provide knowledge and ideas on how to have nutritious meals and snacks. Consider this 1800 – 2000 calorie plan a base you can build from no matter what your individual calorie and nutrient needs are. Adjust food amounts to match personal needs. For proper food digestion, blood sugar control, nutrient utilization, and energy level eat a meal every 4 -6 hours, plan snacks between meals. Plan to have a snack 1 -2 hours or a meal 3-4 hours before a workout of competition.

Note- Total calorie needs equal essential calories (10 x body weight) plus activity calories (40% to 70% of essential calories). Choose 40% if you have a light to moderate activity level. Choose 70% if you have a high activity level.

Daily Nutrition Goals:

- 3 meals and 1 -3 snacks
- 5-7 ounces of lean meat, poultry, fish, or meat alternative
- 2-4 cups milk , soy milk, or yogurt
- 2-3 cups vegetables
- 1-2 cups fruit
- 6-8 serving of whole grain breads, cereals, or starchy vegetables
- 5-6 teaspoons hearty healthy fat like soft margarine, oil, nut butter, or avocado

What is a meal? The 5 parts of a basic meal are:

1. Protein source- Lean meat, poultry, fish, dairy choice, or meat alternative
2. Vegetable or fruit
3. Bread, cereal, and/or starchy vegetable
4. Some fat
5. Fluids

What is a Snack? One or two foods.

Sample basic 1800 – 2000 calorie meal plan:

Breakfast:

- milk or yogurt
- fresh fruit or juice
- toast and/or cereal
- some peanut butter or soft tub margarine
- water

Lunch:

- 2-4 ounces (deck of cards) lean beef or turkey or cottage cheese
- raw sliced vegetables or salad or fruit
- bun or 2 slices bread or 10-12 crackers
- a little mayonnaise
- water

Snack (right after run, bike, walk, or another fitness activity):

- 1-2 cups milk or yogurt smoothie
- Banana or another fruit
- water

Dinner:

- 2-4 ounces (deck of cards) lean meat, chicken, fish, or 1 cup beans
- cooked carrots or broccoli or green peppers/onions and salad (optional)
- potato or rice or pasta or pizza crust
- some sauce or oil, or soft tub margarine
- water

Snack

- Handful of a crunchy munchie and/or fresh fruit
- Water

Plan for favorite foods. Do not deprive yourself! If desired have 150-300 favorite calories everyday.

Note if fitness workouts are more than 60 to 90 minutes drink 4-8 ounces of a sports drink every 15 to 20 minutes to help yourself stay energized. Have a snack right after the workout.

When do you eat now? What do you currently select for meals and snacks? Check out your choices! Highlight “high five” choices and “low five” choices. Set a goal.....stop a “low five” action and pick a more nutritious option. Plan new and improved meals and snacks. Day by day find what gives you calories and nutrients you need.

Meet Jeremy Schmidt

By

At the relatively young age of 32, Jeremy Schmidt has gone through more trials and tribulations than most of us go through in a lifetime. The 1994 graduate of Paul Harding High School was a very good athlete for the Hawks. Playing basketball for one year and running track and cross country for all four years, Jeremy was a very busy and active young man. He also played the bass drum in the Harding marching band, which just happened to be directed by his father, Jack Schmidt. Although then track and cross country coach, Larry Yant, didn't think that Jeremy could succeed at both band and athletics, he (Jeremy) was bound and determined to prove him wrong. All he did was become All-Conference (in the very competitive Summit Athletic Conference) in cross country for two of his four years and had P.R.'s of 16:48 for 5K in cross country, 4:45 for the 1600 and 10:16 for the 3200 in track—quite the respectful resume!

With these kinds of performances as background, Jeremy was off to St. Joseph's College after graduating from high school where he continued to run both cross country and track. And he continued to develop with an 8K cross country best of 26:30 and a 34:00 10K on the track. After 2 ½ years, however, he just didn't seem to "fit" at St. Joseph's and thus transferred to Taylor University's Fort Wayne Campus where he graduated with a degree in Urban Ministry. Because Taylor did not have track or cross country, Jeremy had to continue his running on the roads and became a very active member of the Fort Wayne Track Club (which he has continued off and on for the past 10 or 12 years).

While a member of the Harding Marching Band, Jeremy met and fell in love with a young lady who eventually became his wife and together they brought a delightful daughter, Mercedes, into the world. Although the marriage did not last, Jeremy continues a good relationship with his ex-wife and gets to see his daughter a couple of weekends each month, which he eagerly looks forward to. Part of the reason the marriage did not last was due to the very traumatic incident which has kept Jeremy from his true love — running. While living in Indianapolis with his wife and child, Jeremy got a job at the post office where he worked a very early shift. Because his wife needed the car, Jeremy would bike to work each day around 3:30 a.m. On November 10 of 2004, at precisely 3:50 a.m., Jeremy was hit by a garbage truck and sustained a very serious, but inoperative, skull fracture which bruised the frontal lobe of his brain. Needless to say, he has had to go through many months of therapy and counseling after this incident which has drastically changed his life. This particular brain injury is one that affects his thinking process and creates many difficulties in his understanding where someone is coming from as they converse with him. For instance, he has a hard time distinguishing if someone is merely kidding him or is really serious. Jeremy said that the hardest thing for him is just trying to accept why this happened. "If it were not for my faith in God and the many Christian family members and friends who have supported me, I don't think I could have survived", Jeremy stated. He also credits the love and understanding of the pastors and members of Pathway Community Church for helping him through these tough times.

The good news is that Jeremy is now back running and enjoying the other things which occupy his "spare" time such as reading and watching sports and sports-related movies. In fact, he has set some lofty goals for himself in running, as he would like to someday be one of the better marathon runners in the country. I would hate to doubt him—look how he made a believer out of a doubting Coach Yant back in high school. Jeremy also would like to give back to the community what he has learned through his ordeal. He has initiated a Fort Wayne Chapter of the Achilles Track Club, which is a running club for those with disabilities. Although it is just getting off the ground, they are beginning to meet each Saturday morning at 8:00 a.m. at the main pavilion at Foster Park for a group run. Jeremy does feel that he might have bit off a bit more than he could chew at the present time, so he is searching for someone who might like to take over the responsibility of organizing and maintaining this club. Because of his brain-related injury and the resulting effects on his thinking and life-style, Jeremy is currently working as a bagger and cashier at Scott's Grocery Store here in Fort Wayne. With an awful lot to complain about, Jeremy remains upbeat through it all and would like to eventually write a book with a title that sums up what he would like others to learn from his experiences: Live for Today (because you don't know what tomorrow holds)! We're just glad that Jeremy is one of our very active Fort Wayne Track Club Board Members, a position which he fills very proudly!

Points Rules For 2007

- FWTC members must pay dues by March 1st to be awarded points for the current year. We will allow a grace period up to date of the Nutri-Run.
- Participants may earn 100 volunteer points for each race they work, with a maximum of 200 counting towards their total points. Volunteer points are not mandatory. Points may be earned for both volunteering and running in the same race. Race directors will earn 100 points toward the series; there are no maximum points for race directors.
- Age group placement:
 - Age group placement is determined by your age at the start of the race year (January 1st). This is the group all your points will go into for the year.

Example: You are 44 on January 1st of 2007, in March you turn 45. Your points will continue to go into the age group that includes 44 until the end of the year.

- b. FWTC Age groups: Male and Female under 19, 20-29, 30-34, 35-39, 40-44, 45-49, 50-54, 55-59, 60-69, 70 and over
- c. Some race directors opt to use different age groups than those of the FWTC. Points are earned based on that race's specified age groups. This means 2 people may earn the same points in one age group. Example: If a race director has a 60 - 64 age group and a 65 - 69 age group, the winners of each age group would receive 100 points. If the race director uses the FWTC age groups, there would be only 1 winner between ages 60-69. The FWTC board does not require race directors to use their age groupings.
- d. Points are given based on how a participant finishes compared to other FWTC members.
