PRESIDENT'S COLUMN

I am writing this column the day following the Warbird 10k, a points race, which also featured a 5k walk/run. Watching more than 1000 runners cross the start line on their way, I was reminded that running, unlike most, if not all, sports is a great leveler. The walkers and the not so fast were on the same course and the fast and very fast. Ten year olds were running with runners 70 and older. While everyone was not at the same speed, everyone was on the same course together. Despite the overcast weather that turned to a light, then not so light rain, everyone seemed to enjoy the race as well as the after-race social time. Running is like that.

Will you ever be on the same floor competing with Paul Pierce or LeBron James? Or will you stand at the plate waiting for a Carlos Zambrano fast ball? The answer to both questions is probably "no." However, depending on the race you choose, some of your fellow runners may be Adam or Kara Goucher, Alan Culpepper, or other world-class runners. You may not win, but you can compete against the world's best. So, keep running! Whether for fitness, fast times, points, or the social aspect, the reasons are many. No matter what, though, run for enjoyment!

So long, I gotta run.

Coach's Corner

Bussen a coaching success by any measure

Brett Hess talked with local cross country coach Tom Bussen and documented advice from this local expert. Bussen's advice is good for seasoned veterans and newbies alike!

Tom Bussen has coached middle school cross country since the fall of 1986, first at Carroll Middle and then Maple Creek Middle since its opening in 2000. Bussen's teams have won nine boys' conference championships and 10 girls' conference championships. His Maple Creek girl's teams have won seven consecutive conference championships. The teams have also been undefeated the last three years and in five of the last six. But Bussen, as you'll read, doesn't measure his success by wins and losses.

If you measure success by participation, Bussen has it covered. His teams are consistently the largest of any middle school in northeastern Indiana (up to 35 girls and 25 boys). And his runners keep performing. Many have gone on to all-state honors for Carroll High School. His kids develop a love for the sport. Some become star athletes.

And if it's just plain havin' fun you want, you will be hard-pressed to find teams that have more fun than Maple Creek.

So, no matter how you measure coaching success, Bussen is a winner.

Bussen's coaching philosophy:

In one word, "encouragement." That is the single best thing you can give a middle school student-athlete. They are so impressionable at that age, so eager. You just feed them encouragement and it's amazing what can happen. Also, I make it a point to always watch for our slowest runners both in practice and in meets. Then, the other kids recognize that and they do the same. If you favor your best runners, only your best runners will develop. But if you favor your slower runners, all of them develop.

Bussen's training philosophy:

To get the most concise, quality, four-mile practice as possible. We don't go over four miles, and that includes warm-up, striders, and cool-down. We won't do more than three hard workouts in the three weeks before our first meet and we won't do more than one a week during the season. And, we always stay on the (grass surfaces) and off asphalt.

Bussen's staple workout:

Once we get into shape and into the season, the 300- or 400-meter repeats. I give each kid a range and whether we are doing three or four or even eight of them, the kids have to stay in that range. We want to maintain the same speed throughout the workout. And, of course, if they do well, I cut 'em a deal.

Bussen's coaching highlight:

Oh, I have three of them. This past year we had a runner who was beaten by the same kid all year, right at the end of races. So at the conference meet I told our kid to just start sprinting with 500 meters to go--and it worked! He won the conference championship. Another highlight was a boys' team in the 90s that was getting beat by Norwell all year. But we had a really good runner who couldn't run on Saturdays because he was Seventh Day Adventist. Well, conference is on a Wednesday. He was our secret weapon. He ran and we won. The other highlight was a girls' team in the 90s that kept getting nipped by Summit all year long. But for conference, we changed our strategy and each girl (was assigned) to one Summit girl. We won by two points.

Bussen on his running career:

I ran for Carroll but I wasn't anything special. Really, I had my most success as a middle school runner (at Carroll Middle School). And I had the most fun as an athlete when I was in middle school. Maybe that's why I like coaching middle school kids. It's a great time in a person's life.

Why coaching? (Bussen is not a teacher, but a cabinet maker.)

My high school coach, Dan Green, asked me to fill the spot at Carroll Middle, to help his high school program. (Ironically, nearly 20 years later, Green joined Bussen at Maple Creek.)

Bussen's coaching lesson:

Make sure you are there for the kids. They are above the sport, above wins and losses, above yourself. It's all about the kids. When they recognize it's about them, they respond. I hear coaches and teachers complain that the kids don't respect them. Well, we're the adults, we're supposed to teach them how to respect. So, respect them and they will respect you.

WHY RUN?

Running is a sport for all ages

There are running programs for kids, events for families, and people are running well into their 70's and beyond. Running is a sport that everyone in the family can participate.

Running is the most accessible sport

No matter where you live, work, or travel there are areas that are safe for running. Running clubs and events can be found in nearly every city in the US.

Running is the perfect exercise

35 minutes of running 3-4 times a week will result in improved physical fitness. Running strengthens the heart and lungs and the major muscles of the body. Running reduces stress and can improve self-esteem.

SUCCESSFUL RUNNING TIPS

- Invest in a good pair of running shoes and running apparel purchased from a specialty running shoe store
- Learn about good running form from a coach, a publication, or a running website
- Develop running goals and a training plan
- Make running part of your daily life and pick a regular running time that works best for your schedule
- Avoid injury through proper training and recovery cycles

Since 1958, the Road Runners Club of America has served as the national association of running clubs, running events, and runners dedicated to promoting long distance running as a competitive sport and as healthful exercise. The RRCA's mission is to represent and promote the common interest of its member clubs, events, and individual runners through education, leadership, programs, and other services. The RRCA is a 501(c)3 nonprofit organization.

Why Run With Us?

We Run the Nation!

What a Road Trip!

Fun, relaxation, and responsibility collide in this warmly funny documentation of the recently held Warbird race. Chris Weidler artfully describes his experience at this annual event.

There was a time, many moons ago, that I, along with a few friends, would have travelled a lot of miles to get beer. You would think that I had, over the years, grown up a little. Now I find myself getting out of bed on a Saturday for yet another road trip in search of beer. I didn't have to borrow dad's car this time around as I made my way to the Warbird Brewery to run at the Warbird 5k and 10k event.

I must admit I was a little apprehensive. Being 44 years old and feeling stiffness in the knees was the least of my concerns. My back decided 10 days before the Warbird that I was not going to be able to walk much; let alone run a 10k. Since starting in the early 80s, I have run many races. I have never not finished a single race. Today, though, had the potential to be a 10 foot race instead of a 10k if my back dictated. Driving south from the north side of Fort Wayne, I put the aches and nervousness out of my mind by listening to a music radio station instead of the normal news talk radio. Maybe listening to music would pump me up a bit and give me that "I can do this" spirit. I also turned on the heat in my car seat as an added element of comfort for the back as Funky Cold Medina was blasting from my car. Hey that's just how I roll. There was excitement, too, in that my little sister Cherie, who has picked up running the last few years, was going to be there and running too. She was driving up from Decatur and I always enjoy the opportunity to spend time with her. We tend to laugh a lot together.

When I arrived at the race there was a traffic backup from my direction on the main road. We parked our cars in a large field of tall grass and weeds that, although soggy, appeared tenuously to have enough clay to keep our vehicles afloat. My sister met me at my car and she was aware of my back pain, so I played it to the hilt as I exited the car as if looking for a lost contact. "Oh my, are you serious," was her response. It's the little things in life that bring me pleasure. I had my moment.

The airport is next to the brewery and the 122d Indiana Air National Guard. The F16s were flying overhead on a training weekend and the crisp rumble of jet turbines crushed the skies overhead as America's finest encouraged me.

As we walked to where all of the people who would be finishing in front me stood and talked, I noticed that I was no longer thin. Something had happened. My former 160 pounds had blossomed into a full-figured 190 and I felt it heavily as I looked into the mirrors of my former self. Not only was I older but I was injured, out of shape and had not trained. I think my sister was the one that said, "so this is where they are growing all of the skinny healthy people."

The idea for the race was intriguing to me. The name "Warbird" was unique to all of the other race names. Throw in a brewery and it had all of the elements of a really cool race running t-shirt (the only real reason we true runners attend these events anyway). We were not disappointed. Very cool shirt. We also received a Warbird Brewery pint glass which was very nice and held the promise of future anti-running beverages.

One of the things I really like about many of the recent road races is the race chip. My initial response was to bring the french onion dip but I held off because I am a disciplined person. The chip is laced to your shoes and allows the timer to efficiently scan your time as you come across the start and finish line, much like food being scanned for price at the grocery line.

The thin crowd grew fat behind the start line. The mood shifted and I sensed it was time to get ready to run.

Some may disagree but I think there is something absolutely beautiful about our flat field Indiana farmland. I have always enjoyed running out in the country on the back roads and just gazing over the land as I ran. The race was laid out on a flat out and back course that allowed me to gaze at the beauty as I trotted along the fields imagining and pondering the burgeoning farmscape that had changed so much in my lifetime already. Great, too, was the joyful fact that my back was holding up!

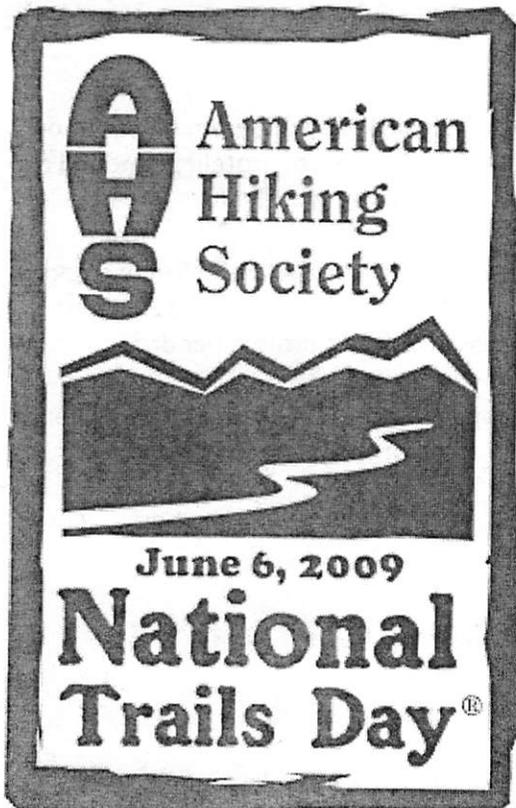

The promise of this road race was that at the end of it the brewery would have some freshly made delicious suds ready for the participants. Although I never physically ran on any previous road trips for beer, this event gave me the opportunity to meditate on past pursuits; Benjamin Franklin is quoted as saying, "beer is proof that God loves us." As each mile passed, I grew in confidence that today would not be the day that I did not finish a race. This thrill compensated for my aching knees and back as I kept one foot in front of me, falling and catching myself over and over again, pursuing Ben's faith.

The fit people had long passed me on their return trip home as my fellow beer seekers and I approached the final mile and I could hear the timer counting out finish times. Even a slow guy like me gets a thrill from hearing that cadence! At the same time, as a runner, it remains a quiet and personal sport that has its own voice. It is a game unique to the spirit and heart of the individual runner. It is a quiet time full of intensity and self challenge; in many ways more mental and physical than any other sport.

My sister and I entered the refreshment line upon completing our journey and we were handed two beers from the Warbird beer oracles. As we entered the tent the skies broke loose and down came the spider with the rain and washed us all away as we positioned ourselves under the giant tent full of laughter, joy, and the excitement of living among the living well.

The Warbird was a well done event. I tip my hat to the folks who put it together. I will be back next year if my internal time ticker is still ticking. Anyone who enjoys running and the social side of running will leave the event with a full belly of more than one kind of spirit.

We hung out under the tent as the rain washed the roads we had just travelled. We talked about how we were going to be getting in better shape for the next event and we told a lot of jokes. It was an absolutely wonderful day that offered so many caveats to success for me personally. Ultimately I shared a day with my beautiful sister, finished a 10k, enjoyed a few beers and a lot of laughs. What a road trip.

Go Meatless

Bagel and banana for breakfast, salad for lunch, handful of whole wheat pretzels as a pre-workout snack, broccoli and potato for supper, and a granola bar as the evening snack. This was a one day food recall given during a nutrition consultation. Let's call this person "Pat". For health reasons, Pat committed to vegetarian eating. Yet there's doubt about whether or not the meals and snacks are well balanced and whether or not there's adequate protein. Help is desired.

Pat's Personal profile: 32 years old, 5' 5", and 125 pounds. Pat runs about 20 to 25 miles per week and hopes to complete a 5 km event in the next couple of months.

Pat's recommended daily calorie needs are 2000 to 2200 calories with 63 to 100 grams protein. Red flag...The one day intake provided Pat 940 calories with 29 grams protein which is about 45% of calorie needs and about 36% protein needs. If current food choices continue it would lead to health problems like anemia, decreased immune functions, and osteoporosis.

Solution! Nutrient education and meal modification that would add quality protein choices to meals and snacks.

Personally choosing to "go meatless" using very nutritious low processed foods can offer health advantages like heart disease and cancer risk reduction yet if a variety of foods are not used day by day intake of protein, calcium, potassium, iron, zinc, and vitamin B12 can be too low. A person can put themselves at risk for mal-nutrition. Great eating intentions might cause lack of energy, sickness, and poor performances.

Protein is primarily used to build and repair body tissues. It aids in immune cell formation, bone strength, cognitive abilities, tough teeth, healthy organs, stable blood sugar, and maintenance of body tissues (ie..hair, nails, muscles, tendons, and skin).

How much protein do we need each day? We all have our special daily requirement based on our age, weight, and activity level. The average adult needs .40 grams of protein per pound of weight. Active adults need .50 to .80 grams protein per pound of body weight.

An active 100 pound person needs 50 to 80 grams protein per day. An active 125 pound person needs 63 to 100 grams protein per day. An active 150 pound person needs 75 to 120 grams protein per day. An active 200 pound person needs 100 to 160 grams protein per day.

How does this translate to food? The best protein sources are meat, poultry, fish, eggs, beans, nuts, seeds, yogurt, milk, and cheese. Below is a list of some of them and their grams of protein per serving.

For a vegetarian quality protein can come from eggs, beans, nuts, seeds, yogurt, milk, and cheese. Some vegetarians omit milk and cheese choices.

Food	Protein (grams)
Fish, poultry, meat (3 oz cooked)	20- 30
Milk- skim, 1%, or 2% (1 cup)	8
Yogurt (6-8 oz)	8-10

Best,

Thinking about going meatless? Are you a current vegetarian? Do consider a nutrition consultation with a registered dietitian for a nutrition analysis of meals and snacks, nutrition education, and meal planning. Also consider getting a nutrition resource book like Nancy Clark's Sports Nutrition Guidebook. Going meatless can be a great way to eat for you. Just check that meals offer proper nutritious food choices through out each day. Give your mind and body what it needs.

Midwest Meet of Champions returns to Summit City in 2010

The most prestigious scholastic track championships in the Midwest _ and one of the nation's longest-held meets _ is returning to its birthplace next June. The Midwest Meet of Champions will bring the top high school senior athletes from three states to Spuller Stadium at Northrop High School on June 12, 2010.

This all-star event was founded by the late Bill Walker in 1973. Walker, a hall of fame coach most notably for his success at Fort Wayne South Side, and several other area track and field coaches developed the meet over the ensuing years into a national-class event, drawing thousands of track enthusiasts to our city each June.

While the meet has continued for nearly 40 years, hosting such would-be Indiana-produced Olympians as pole vaulter Dave Volz, sprinter Maciel Malone and distance runner Amy Yoder Begley, it hasn't been held in Indiana in over a decade. Please join us in bringing the meet home!

A meet of this magnitude would not be possible without the full support of our entire community. There are several sponsorship opportunities available, ranging from title sponsor(s) to individual event sponsors (100-meter, shot put, etc.). The economic impact of several thousand track and field fans visiting Fort Wayne for two days is tremendous.

If you or your company are interested in sponsorship information or more details, please contact Midwest Meet of Champions meet director Tom Knudson at Northrop High School, 260-467-2421.

Points Races/Rules for Points Calculations

Please take a moment to peruse the new point compilation rules the club will be using. Changes have been made, and the board hopes you feel comfortable in asking about any concerns or issues you may have. The changes were implemented to recognize the diverse background of strengths offered by members of the club.

Points Rules

1. FWTC members must pay dues by March 1st to be awarded points for the current year. We will allow a grace period up to March 22, 2009.
2. Age group placement:
 - a. Age group placement is determined by your age at the start of the race year (January 1). This is the group all your points will go into for the year.
 - b. FWTC age groups: Male and female, under 19, 20-29, 30-34, 40-44, 45-49, 50-54, 55-59, 60-69, 70 and over
 - c. Some race directors opt to use different age groups than those of the FWTC. Points are earned based on that race's specified age groups. This means two people may earn the same points in one age group. The FWTC board does not require race directors to use their age groupings.

The following significant change will be made:

The previous method of computing runner total points will be different. This was how points were compiled for many years: points are given based on how participant finishes compared to other FWTC members.

1 st place: 100 points	5 th place: 56 points	8 th place: 25 points
2 nd place: 85 points	6 th place: 45 points	9 th place: 15 points
3 rd place: 75 points	7 th place: 35 points	10 th place: 10 points
4 th place: 65 points		Other finishers: 5 points

The new method will return to a point system that was in effect for many years as well. The new system places more weight on quality of placement, but still rewards those runners competing in as many races as possible.

A runner's rating within the age group will be the result of dividing the average finish position by the number of races run. For example, a runner who has totaled 47 points in five races would receive a rating of 1.88 (Average place=9.4 divided by 5). Had another runner in the same age group also averaged 9.4 but run in 6 races, the rating would be 1.57 (9.4 divided by 6), and that person would be leading with a 1.88 rating (the lower the ranking the better). There are currently 11 races that a person could complete with the above listed schedule (although a couple of others are under consideration). The best a person could do using the new system would be 11 first places (1.0 average place finish—divided by 11 races—with a rating of .091 (unbeatable!)).

Taken into account each age group, most results would have remained the same. Average finishing place did make for some changes.

Dear Fort Wayne Track Club Members,

On behalf of the IPFW's NCAA Division I Men's and Women's Cross Country and Track Programs, thank you for supporting IPFW's 14th Annual Mastodon Stomp which was held on April 25th, 2009. The event was dedicated to Tony Laux. Fort Wayne Cardiology, Three Rivers Running Company, Kesslers Team Sports, Runner's World, Girl Scouts of Northern Indiana Michiana Unit 8, The New Sentinel, IPFW Intramurals, IPFW Department of Athletics, Recreation and Intramural Sports, and Indiana Purdue Student Government Association were the other key supporters who helped create a fine fitness time for people of all ages and abilities.

We had a wonderful day. 399 individuals registered for the 5 km run and walk. 48 children registered for either the 400 meter run or 100 meter dash. Total count was 447. A record registration!

Over $4000.00 was raised to help the IPFW Cross Country and Track Teams cover costs like equipment, uniforms, competition expenses, and print costs. IPFW runners will continue to take strides of pride to promote running as a healthy exercise and competitive sport. Come watch them in action during their home meet September 12th. Warbird's Favorite Warbirds

If you're new to warbirds (the airplanes), this is where you start learning. Photos, statistics, and basic histories for our Top Ten list are here. If you already know warbirds, you'll get my personal take on why I love each of these airplanes.

Warbird's Favorite Movies

When the weather is bad, you need something to keep your mind on airplanes. Nothing like a good movie. Here's our list.

Warbird Commercials

We don't have a lot of money for commercials, but we're going to try to make a few anyhow just to see what you think.

Warbird Translator

If you've never been in the military or around military aviation, some of the terms that get used need some explaining. Fortunately, these terms have use in everyday life. Like the phrase, "Lead, I'm Bingo beer. I need to RTB for more Warbird." If you don't know what that means, you need to study this part of our site. Don't worry. There is not a test.

Warbird Jokes

I love hearing a good Fighter Pilot joke. This part of our site is a place to let people share some of the amusing stuff that I get in email from my "service buddies." This is what is called a "Humor Check." Don't expect any raunchy stuff here. I'm a family guy. Still, it feels great to laugh. Keep a cold Warbird handy.

As many of you know, the FWTC is entering a new growth stage so that we can build on the membership needs/desires. However, to do this we need some assistance from our members. We are looking for several individuals to join us in coordinating a few aspects of the club. The areas we are looking to fill are as follows:

Equipment Coordinator - Oversee FWTC timing/finish line equipment and make available to Race Directors wishing to rent it for the races.

Volunteer Coordinator - Recruit and coordinate volunteers for assistance at races, track club events or other special events.

Membership Coordinator - Oversee the membership of the FW Track Club - including processing new membership applications, send out renewal notices as current memberships expire and maintain membership database.

These are very basic descriptions. I would be happy to go into more detail for each of these with any individual(s) interested in helping out. I can be contacted via email at katydid0512@yahoo.com or by phone at 710-1703.

The northeast Indiana running community is an awesome group of people, so I have faith that those of you with the time and energy will enjoy helping us out and getting involved with the planning and organizing that goes on behind the scenes for these events.

Thanks!
